

November 29, 2006

Dear MIT Student,

We are seeking to recruit motivated and talented individuals to the editorial staff of MIT International Review (MITIR), MIT's first student journal of international affairs. In particular, we welcome candidates who possess the following qualifications:

- Demonstrated passion for and/or record of coursework in international affairs
- Significant prior editing or managing experience
- Excellent written, oral, and interpersonal skills

Ensuring that MITIR (1) maintains the highest standards of journalism and (2) remains true to its vision and mission will require a core team of writers and editors who can:

- Quickly evaluate the merits and weaknesses of a wide variety of submissions (ranging from, say, opinion editorials to full-length essays)
- Effectively communicate with authors during the production of each issue of MITIR
- Recruit authors from MIT as well as from other institutions

Please take a moment to browse through our web site, web.mit.edu/mitir, and see what sets us apart. We encourage you to apply for our journalist position by submitting a resume and 250-word letter of interest to mitir-editors@mit.edu by 5:00pm on Friday, December 1, 2006.

Sincerely,

The Editors