

Gender, Race, and the Complexities of Science and Technology: A Problem-Based Learning Experiment

FACULTY

Anne Fausto-Sterling

Biology & Gender Studies, Brown University

Peter Taylor

Critical and Creative Thinking & Science, Technology and Values, UMass Boston

Thursdays, 5-8 PM

1.29.09 - 5.14.09

* Meets at MIT

Graduate Consortium in Women's Studies courses are open to graduate students; advanced undergraduates may apply.

Courses are by Application

contact gcws@mit.edu for more information or visit web.mit.edu/gcws.

Faculty:

RENEE BERGLAND

English, Simmons College

FRINDE MAHER

Education, Wheaton College

Thursdays, 5:30 - 8:30 PM
1/29/09-5/14/09

FEMINIST INQUIRY

*SEMINAR MEETS AT **

GCWS
•••

Graduate Consortium in Women's Studies courses are open to graduate students at all member institutions;
advanced undergraduates may apply.

Courses are by application

Contact gcws@mit.edu for more information or visit
web.mit.edu/gcws.

GENDER, ARMED CONFLICT, AND PEACEMAKING

WEDNESDAYS, 6-9 PM, 1/28/09 - 5/13/09

*SEMINAR MEETS AT MIT

FACULTY:

CAROL COHN, Director, Boston Consortium on Gender, Security, and Human Rights, Fletcher School, Tufts University

GORDANA RABRENOVIC, Associate Professor, Sociology and Education, Northeastern University

LISA RIVERA, Assistant Professor of Philosophy, UMass Boston

Graduate Consortium in Women's Studies courses are open to graduate
students at all member institutions;
advanced undergraduates may apply.

Courses are by application

Contact gcws@mit.edu for more information or visit
web.mit.edu/gcws.