

D-Lab: Biodiversity

MIT EC.714
Spring 2012
T,R 3:00-4:30

Are you interested in preserving the diversity of life on our planet? Are you interested in alleviating poverty?

This course explores the promotion of biodiversity and improved human livelihood through engagement and collaboration with communities of people living in biodiverse, developing regions.

It is part of the D-Lab family of courses.
Optional travel may be available.
