By harnessing the power of data analysis we can protect the environment and improve public health...

Learn how in our new Master of Science program in Environmental Health Data Analytics.

The MS degree is a 32-credit program (1 year full-time, 2 years part-time) intended to provide foundational knowledge in both environmental health sciences and analytical approaches used to inform environmental decision making.

For more information about the new MS program:
www.bu.edu/sph/education/degrees-and-programs/ma-ms-programs/ms-eh-data/

BU

Find out more about the Department of Environmental Health at BU:
www.bu.edu/sph/about/departments/environmental-health/

Boston University School of Public Health