

Leadership Award

Substantial scholarships for tuition to the Duke Master of Arts in Bioethics & Science Policy program.

Awards will be made to the applicants who demonstrate the greatest potential to become leaders in making scientific advancements more accessible, just, and better integrated into society.

How to Apply:

Applications Due January 31st

Submit your completed application for the Duke MA in Bioethics & Science Policy through the Duke Graduate School, including your GRE/MCAT scores, transcripts, and three letters of recommendation.

Submit an essay explaining how your achievements and personal attributes demonstrate the qualities to become a leader in science and society. Submit directly to scienceandsociety@duke.edu with subject: "2019 S&S Leadership Award Essay"

Our admissions and scholarship team, comprised of leading faculty and bioethics scholars, will give careful consideration to every application we receive. The top candidates will be contacted for interviews.

Applicants Must Possess:

Academic Excellence

Exceptional promise in the pursuit of scientific knowledge and understanding as demonstrated through academic achievement, rigor, and intellectual hunger.

Collaboration

Desire and commitment to productive and constructive collaboration with others.

Service

Commitment to science in the service of society.

Openness

Interest in learning from others, gathering multiple perspectives, and standing outside of their comfort zone.

Potential for Leadership

As evidenced by past leadership, interpersonal skills, and commitment to larger social concerns.

Learn More at: scienceandsociety.duke.edu/leadership-award