Need a hand with your writing project, thesis, or job application? Have questions about delivering an important presentation? Our communication professionals have helped thousands of MIT students, post-docs, and faculty solve their writing and communication challenges. The Writing and Communication Center is an MIT service provided free to the entire MIT community. We look forward to working with you!

We are MIT lecturers with many years of experience working with writers from every department across the Institute. At the WCC, we consult with you one-on-one to address your specific academic or professional needs.

Our consultations help you produce outstanding written, visual, and spoken communication. We'll help you succeed with the following:

- Theses, dissertations
- Journal articles
- Dissertation proposals
- CVs/resumes, cover letters
- Personal statements
- Research and teaching statements
- Writing for any MIT class
- Grant and fellowship proposals
- Creative writing
- Procrastination
- Scientific and technical reports
- English Language Learning issues
- Start-up materials and elevator pitches
- Classroom and professional presentations
- Conference and job talks
- Interview practice
- Dissertation defense
- Slide design
- Poster design
- Pronunciation and conversation practice
- Shyness/stage fright
- Writer's block
- And many other communication challenges
