

Will Your Words Change the World?

Do you have a solution to environmental issues, whether MIT-specific or global in perspective? We want to hear about it! Submitting your essay to EXPLORING SOLUTIONS, PRESERVING THE FUTURE can result in great things, from being printed in a major publication to a permanent home for your ideas in the Institute or getting free passes to the IMAX theatre at the New England Aquarium! Why not share your ideas?

Winners will be announced at the MIT Earth Day 2006 event!

To learn more, including submission guidelines, a list of judges, prizes, writing tips, and information on our IAP workshop, please visit:

http://web.mit.edu/wgrecycling/writing_contest.html

Sponsored by

- Artists Behind the Desk
- Department of Facilities
- Environmental Programs Office
- First Year Writing Program
- SHASS (Humanities, Arts and Social Sciences)
- LFEE (Lab for Energy and the Environment)
- SAVE (Share a Vital Earth)
- Students for Global Sustainability
- Terrascope
- Working Group Recycling Committee
- Working Group on Support Staff Issues

