

Tenure-Track Faculty Position Supply Chain Management

The Department of Supply Chain Management (SCM) at Rutgers University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant or Associate Professor position in Supply Chain Management starting September 1st, 2018. A highly reputable scholar at the rank of Full Professor may be considered, depending upon qualifications.

Successful applicants should hold a Ph.D. in the area of Supply Chain Management, Operations Management, Industrial Engineering, Management Science, or a closely related discipline. They should have strong methodological training, outstanding research achievements or potential for publication in top journals, and excellent teaching and communication skills. The new faculty member is expected to teach undergraduate, MBA, executive, and Ph.D. level courses, to be actively involved in research and grant work, to interface with industry, and to supervise Ph.D. students in Supply Chain Management. Candidates with academic experience and strong publication records in healthcare operations, supply chain analytics, or sustainability using empirical approaches are particularly desirable.

The SCM Department is a top-ranked multidisciplinary group charged with carrying out the strategic mission of the Rutgers Business School. Located in both Newark and New Brunswick, New Jersey, between the New York and Philadelphia metropolitan areas, the Rutgers Business School enjoys close proximity to numerous headquarters of global firms and major sea/air ports on the Eastern seaboard. The SCM Department is deeply engaged with industry through its highly-regarded Rutgers Center for Supply Chain Management, which partners with many global companies nationwide. The Department offers degrees in Supply Chain Management at all levels, including an active PhD program. The Rutgers SCM MBA program is currently ranked #9 in the nation by U.S. News and World Report and #7 by Gartner. The Rutgers SCM undergraduate program has been ranked #17 and #5 by US News and World Report and Gartner, respectively. For more information, please visit <http://www.business.rutgers.edu/scm>.
