

THE UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN MISSISSIPPI

Tenure-Track Advanced Assistant/Associate Professor in Supply Chain Management

The School of Marketing in the College of Business & Economic Development at the University of Southern Mississippi is seeking to fill a full-time, nine-month, tenure-track positions starting August 2019.

Job Summary: The School of Marketing invites experienced candidates to apply for a tenure-track positions beginning August 2019. The position is for an Advanced Assistant/Associate level with a focus on Supply Chain Management. Candidates with experience in supply chain (graduate and undergraduate) and online teaching are encouraged to apply.

General Duties and Responsibilities: The experienced Assistant/Associate Professor will teach three courses per semester (or equivalent) to be determined by the Director of the School. Teaching obligations will primarily support the Marketing BSBA degree, but may also include support of the following programs: MBA, Business Foundations graduate certificate, Sales certificate, and Healthcare Marketing BSBA. Faculty are expected to maintain an active research record, quality teaching, and contribute to the mission of the program (below). In addition, the faculty member will provide service (such as committee work and other official activities) for the School and the College of Business.

Minimum Qualifications: Ph.D./D.B.A. is required from an AACSB-accredited institution. The qualified candidate will have a high-quality research record and relevant teaching experience. Prior experience with graduate and online teaching is desirable.

Desired Qualifications: The preferred candidate at the Associate level will have a proven research record of high-quality publications in respective areas. The chosen candidate will have experience in grant writing and work closely with other departments to bridge the gap between business and economic development. Preferred candidates will also have relevant teaching experience which includes proven effectiveness in online course development and teaching, and professional experience. Courses include Supply Chain Management and Logistics or closely related disciplines.

Starting Date: August 2019

Location: The position is based at the Hattiesburg campus, but candidates may be asked to teach at other sites occasionally.

Note: Teaching sites are Hattiesburg, Stennis, Meridian, Gulf Park, Gulfport (GCRL), Keesler, Online Campuses are Hattiesburg, Gulf Coast

Application Procedure: To ensure full consideration, complete application materials should be submitted to the Southern Miss website at

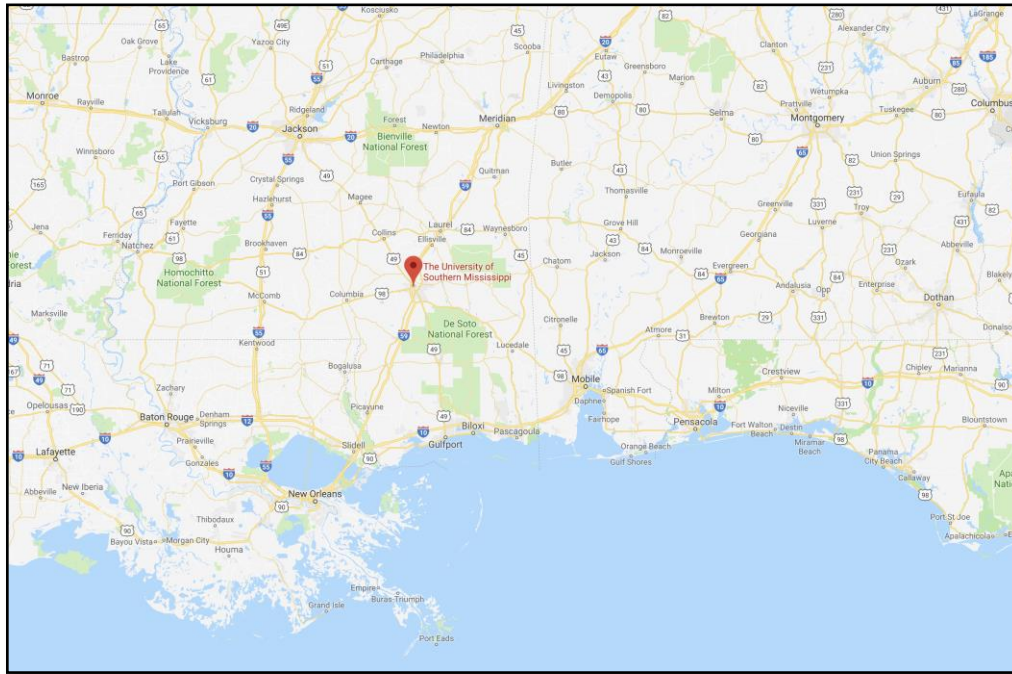

<https://usm.csod.com/ats/careersite/JobDetails.aspx?id=231>

Questions should be directed to marco.wolf@usm.edu. The search committee will be conducting initial interviews at the 2018 Society for Marketing Advances Annual Conference.

The Mission of the Marketing Program: Our faculty maintains active research records and connections with business leaders. We prepare our students to be successful marketing professionals by (a) challenging them to develop the knowledge and skills necessary to be effective problem-solvers, and (b) requiring them to apply their knowledge and skills on client-based projects to gain real-world experience.

The University: Founded in 1910, The University of Southern Mississippi is a comprehensive doctoral and research-extensive university fulfilling its mission of being a leading university in engaging and empowering individuals to transform lives and communities. The University of Southern Mississippi, which enrolls approximately 17,000 students each year, is the only dual-campus university in Mississippi with campuses in Hattiesburg and Long Beach. Six additional teaching and research sites are located on the Mississippi Gulf Coast and in Meridian. Learn more at www.usm.edu.

Hattiesburg is located in South Mississippi, in a region known as the “Pine Belt.” The metro area has a combined population of about 146,000 people. Hattiesburg is approximately an hour and a half (by car) from the Mississippi Gulf Coast and is about an hour and 45 minutes from both Jackson, MS, and New Orleans, LA.

As an Affirmative Action/Equal Employment Opportunity Employer/Americans with Disabilities Act institution, The University of Southern Mississippi encourages minorities, women, veterans, and persons with disabilities to apply.