

The National Restaurant Association Educational Foundation (NRAEF)

is excited to announce the opening of applications for the David R. Parsley Endowed Scholarship Fund for Supply Chain Management. Since 2014, the scholarship fund has supported over 13 undergraduate students majoring in Supply Chain Management with $90,000 in scholarship funding.

The scholarship is named after David R. Parsley, retired senior vice president of supply chain management for Brinker International, Inc., and former chairman of the National Restaurant Association's Supply Chain Management Executive Study Group, who was instrumental in the groups formation and growth. Under his leadership, the Supply Chain Management spring and fall conferences became best-in-class forums for networking, relationship building, and mutual exchange of information relative to supply chain.

Who Should Apply:

Fall 2019 Juniors and Seniors majoring in Supply Chain Management that have a strong interest in pursuing a Supply Chain career in the restaurant or foodservice industry.

Award Amount:

Scholarship awards range from $5,000 to $10,000 and can be used towards undergraduate enrollment in the 2019-2020 academic year.

How to Apply:

Interested applicants can complete the scholarship application, essays and provide current transcripts at Chooserestaurants.org/scholarships

Deadline to Apply:

March 15, 2019

Questions?
Scholars@nraef.org