

Auburn University
Raymond J. Harbert College of Business
Faculty Position in Supply Chain Management

Position: The Raymond J. Harbert College of Business at Auburn University in Auburn, Alabama anticipates one opening starting Fall 2020, for a qualified Assistant Professor with the ability to teach in Supply Chain Management. This position is intended to provide support for the Harbert College's growing and highly ranked programs in supply chain management by contributing to the increasing research, teaching, and outreach requirements of the programs.

Qualifications: Candidates must have an earned doctorate from an accredited business school in Supply Chain Management, Logistics, Operations Management, Management Science, or a closely related field upon start date. Additional qualifications include:

- Evidence or potential of the development of a strong research record based primarily in supply chain management.
- Evidence of teaching and/or research interests in supply chain management.
- Evidence of the ability to teach a variety of courses in the supply chain management program at all levels.
- Selected candidate must be legally authorized to work in the United States at the time of appointment and continue working legally for the term of employment.
- Excellent written, organizational and communication skills are required.

Responsibilities: Successful applicants will be expected to engage in high-quality research, evidenced by publications in leading academic journals, teach courses in the supply chain management program, and contribute to developing the future path for the department's growing programs.

About the Program: The Supply Chain Management program was ranked as the #3 undergraduate supply chain management program by Gartner in 2018. The faculty consists of an Eminent Scholar and six additional tenure track faculty, three lecturers, and two staff who support the professional development of supply chain management students. The Center for Supply Chain Innovation is sponsored by over a dozen firms who make a multi-year commitment to support faculty research and the curriculum. The supply chain faculty is known for its high quality research, exemplary teaching, and significant level of engagement in the supply chain industry.

About the College: The Raymond J. Harbert College of Business has a strong tradition of producing highly desired graduates and generating knowledge that drives business thought and practice. The college and its programs consistently rank among the nation's best public undergraduate and graduate business programs. The Harbert College has experienced steady enrollment growth in recent years and currently serves over 5,000 undergraduate and graduate students through five academic departments offering 9 undergraduate majors and multiple Master's and PhD options. In addition, the college raised over $130 million in private support during the most recent "Because this is Auburn" campaign. The college pioneered online masters and executive programs that are now ranked among the very best, with additional recognitions occurring in programs across the college such as accounting and supply chain management. The college has invested in building a nationally recognized faculty that moves thought forward through research, engages with industry, and delivers relevant and current instruction. The Auburn Family values tradition, yet eagerly prepares for the future. Rooted in more than 160 years of tradition, Auburn University occupies 1,841 acres and is the academic home to more than 30,000 students. Auburn's commitment to active student engagement, professional success, and public/private partnerships garners a growing reputation for outreach and extension that delivers broad economic, health, and societal impact.

Location: Auburn, Alabama is a vibrant and thriving college town and community. Southern Living recently recognized the city of Auburn as one of the top small towns in the South and Money magazine named Auburn as the best place to live in Alabama. Known as the 'Loveliest Village on the Plains,' Auburn offers a high quality of life including a vibrant cultural scene at the new Gogue Performing Arts Center, SEC sports throughout the academic year, an outstanding K-12 school system, general and concierge healthcare options, and an exceptional veterinary school for pet care. Chewacla State Park, just five miles from campus, offers camping, hiking, and mountain biking, as well as swimming and boating opportunities. The Atlanta Hartsfield International Airport is only 90 minutes away, with multiple shuttle service options to / from Auburn daily. Birmingham is a similar drive to the north and Montgomery, the state capital, is only 50 minutes to the south. Beaches or mountains, whichever you prefer, are only a 3-4 hour drive.

Application Process: Review of application materials will begin July 12 and continue until a qualified candidate is selected and recommended for appointment. To be actively considered for this position, interested candidates must submit a brief cover letter outlining their interest in this position and a curriculum vita (including at least three references who will be contacted at a later date).

To apply for this position, go to: <https://aufacultypositions.peopleadmin.com/postings/3668>.

Auburn University is an EEO/Vet/Disability employer