

Bio Career Center

Come and hear what Nick Folger, President of Bio Career Center, has to say about what his organization can do for:

- Life Sciences PhDs, Postdocs, and Masters students who are seeking careers in a variety of career paths

Bio Career Center

1. Has a jobs board with over 400+ jobs focused just on graduate level life science candidates
2. Has in-depth career information, written by experienced graduates now working in over 15 career paths, developed in cooperation with Stanford Medical School's Career Office
3. Is a growing consortium of leading life sciences institutions banding together to help graduate students find meaningful work

Will you join in the discussion to help determine whether MIT will join the Bio Career Center Consortium?

Please come to: Room 68-121

On: Friday, April 6th

Time: 11:00 am

