

Race and Extreme Violence in American Society Today

Thursday, April 19, 2012

4:00 - 5:30 PM in 4-237

Comparing the Trayvon Martin incident and the death of Jicun Wu, owner of a Chinese takeout in Philadelphia, as instances of extreme violence against the black and Asian American communities.

Panelists include:

Elijah Anderson, PhD (Prof. of Sociology, Yale University)

Andrew Leong, JD (Associate Professor of Legal Education and Immigration Law, UMass Boston)

Sponsors:

Office of the Chancellor, MIT Postdoctoral Association,
Office of the Dean of Graduate Education,
Center for Bilingual/Bicultural Studies,
Program in Women's and Gender Studies,
Office of Minority Education, Committee on Race and Diversity

