

Race and Extreme Violence in American Society Today

Thursday, April 19, 2012

4:00 - 5:30 PM in 4-237

Comparing the Trayvon Martin incident and the death of Jicun Wu, owner of a Chinese takeout in Philadelphia, as instances of extreme violence against the black and Asian American communities.

Panelists include:

R. Dwayne Betts (Fellow, Radcliffe Institute of Advanced Studies)

Andrew Leong (Associate Professor of Legal Education and Immigration Law, UMass Boston)

Paul Niwa, (Associate Professor of Journalism, Emerson College)

Sponsors:

Office of the Chancellor, MIT Postdoctoral Association,

Office of the Dean for Graduate Education,

Center for Bilingual/Bicultural Studies,

Program in Women's and Gender Studies,

Office of Minority Education, Committee on Race and Diversity

