

MIT PhD Career Event

PhD & Post Doc Career Seminar Transition To A Job You Love

With Guest Speaker:

Dr Isaiah Hankel, Ph.D.

LEARN HOW TO BUILD CREDIBILITY IN INDUSTRY TO PUT YOURSELF IN A POSITION OF STRENGTH

Most academics approach their transition with an academic mindset, which can limit their abilities to secure a position in industry. Become a more competitive candidate by understanding the differences between industry & academia.

USE STRATEGY

Learn how to strategically network your way into a referral, then to an interview and then into a job offer.

GAIN LEVERAGE

Learn how to put yourself in a position of strength to get called for interviews.

GET ACCESS

Learn the different positions in industry that PhDs are transitioning into and figure out which ones are right for you.

DATE: Monday, February 8th

TIME: 4-5pm

LOCATION: Singleton auditorium,
Building 46-3002

About Isaiah Hankel, Ph.D.: Fortune 500 consultant, international speaker and bestselling author, Isaiah combines a scientific approach with a tangible methodology to create a system anyone in academia can use to adapt to today's changing academic landscape. Isaiah has worked with hundreds of PhDs and will share the specific techniques that PhDs are using to successfully transition to industry.

Events starts at 4pm sharp; get there early to ensure your seat.