Fighting Hunger Worldwide

AFP/Roberto Schmidt

Drought in the Horn of Africa: Hunger puts lives of millions at risk.

It is one of the worst droughts in living memory, and millions are at risk - especially the very young.

The World Food Programme (WFP) is providing a lifeline to those living on the edge, streaming food into Ethiopia, Kenya, Somalia, Djibouti and Uganda.

Children are the most vulnerable. By providing highly nutritious, fortified food products, WFP is helping to protect the next generation from the destructive cycle of drought and hunger.
