

Re-Visualizing Japan

A Symposium to Honor

John W. Dower

Monday, May 17, 2010

MIT Building 10, room 105

Begins at 10 am, public welcome

Speakers:

Herbert P. Bix, Binghamton University
"Forty Years of Japanese Studies"

Andrew Gordon, Harvard University
"Revisiting E.H. Norman, Japan, and the Uses of History"

Peter C. Perdue, Yale University
"The Gentle Radical and the History of Japanese Studies"

Laura Hein, Northwestern University
"Reckoning with War in the Museum: Hijikata Teiichi at the Kamakura Museum of Modern Art"

Franziska Seraphim, Boston College
"Teaching Japan's War and its Legacies—Comparatively"

Daqing Yang, George Washington University
"Technology and Empire in Modern Japanese History"

Timothy George, University of Rhode Island
"Minamata and More: Writing
Japan's Environmental History"

Shigeru Miyagawa, MIT
"Visualizing Visualizing Cultures"

John W. Dower, MIT
"Reflections"

