

Clean Energy & the Media

Wind Energy: Which Way Does the Media Wind Blow?

Wednesday, February 2

12:00-1:30 PM

Bell Hall

Belfer Building, 5th Floor

Light lunch will be served

BETH DALEY

The Boston Globe

Energy and Environment Reporter

ELISABETH ROSENTHAL

The New York Times

International Environment Reporter

Discussant: Henry Lee, Director of the Environment and Natural Resources Program, Belfer Center for Science and International Affairs

Moderator: Alex Jones, Director of the Joan Shorenstein Center on the Press, Politics and Public Policy

Upcoming HKS Clean Energy & the Media Seminars:

Wednesday, February 23, 1:00-2:30 p.m. "The Long Road to Electric Cars: Green Hope or Media Hype?" Alan Boyle, msnbc.com science editor, and Bryan Walsh, Time Magazine environment reporter. Bell Hall, Belfer Bldg., 5th Floor

Wednesday, March 23, 1:00-2:30 p.m. "The Seesaw Coverage of Nuclear Power: Promise or Peril?" Ned Potter, ABC News science correspondent, and Matthew Wald, New York Times science reporter. Bell Hall, Belfer Bldg., 5th Floor