Halloween Party: Today, Sun, Oct 20 at 6:00pm in W11 MDR, join us to have some fun and rest. We'll have pizza, candy, pumpkin painting and a costume contest. Please invite your friends! (Please wear an appropriate costume and avoid dressing up as a saint out of respect for the saint).

Celiac Disease/Gluten Intolerance: The Benedictine Sisters of Perpetual Adoration in Clyde, Missouri, have made Vatican-approved, low-gluten altar breads since 2004. These breads have been tested by independent laboratories and deemed safe for use by many people with Celiac Sprue Disease.

In 2004 Dr. Alessio Fasano, at the time director of the Center for Celiac Research at the University of Maryland, maintained that the amount of gluten contained in one of the Benedictine Sisters' low-gluten altar breads (tested at < .01 percent) was so minute that someone diagnosed with Celiac Sprue Disease would have to consume 270 wafers daily in order to reach the danger point. A test done in 2016 indicated the gluten content was even more minimal - less than .001 percent. Dr. Fasano is now with the Center for Celiac Research and Treatment at Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston. The decision to receive a low-gluten host should be made on advice from your physician.

At Mass the priest will have the special container with the low-gluten hosts. At the time for Holy Communion simply process in the line being served by the priest, and when in front of the priest let him know you need a low-gluten host.

McGrath Institute's Echo Program: This program offers a robust and holistic faith formation leadership program that affords students the opportunity to earn a tuition-free M.A. Theology degree through summer coursework at Notre Dame, while serving as full-time ministers in parishes and dioceses or as theology teachers in middle and high schools during the academic year.

Students receive wide-ranging program benefits like a generous stipend, health insurance, free housing and utilities in their host diocese, and full room and board during the summers at Notre Dame. Unlike many service programs, no fundraising is required. Echo's curriculum offers students a first-rate theological education in the mysteries of the faith within the context of an integrative formation experience that helps students become competent leaders in faith formation and compelling witnesses to the faith wherever they live and serve.

Echo is currently seeking prospective applicants for its incoming class. Applications will be received through January 20, 2025, for those interested in beginning the two-year program in June 2025. Qualified juniors may also inquire about an opportunity for early admission.

Interested please contact Scott Boyle, MA at sboyle2@nd.edu or (574) 631-0459 for more information.
