

Visiting Assistant Professor of Scenic Design

The Department of Theatre and Dance, University of Mary Washington, invites applications for a Scenic Designer. This position is a visiting assistant professor to start August 15, 2014. The successful candidate, with other faculty, will share responsibility for scenic design, technical direction, and construction of departmental productions.

MFA in scenic design, or equivalent professional training and experience is required, as is facility with CAD. Candidates must be committed to excellence in undergraduate teaching at the introductory level, as well as in design and technology at the upper level. The Department is particularly interested in candidates who understand the unique demands of a design position in a liberal arts environment and who want to contribute to the life of a vibrant program with strong production values.

Please submit the following items for consideration for this position electronically through the UMW careers website, <https://careers.umw.edu>

- Letter of application
- CV/resume
- Graduate transcripts
- At least ten representative samples of design work (link, digital photos, color photocopies of renderings are all acceptable)

Three letters of recommendation that specifically address teaching and design expertise and experience, and other materials not available in electronic format should be mailed to:

Prof. Gregg Stull, Chair
Department of Theatre & Dance
